

Three former IHL-stars reunited for benefit

MON MAR 17 1980

Three former International Hockey League all-stars are among the ex-Flint Generals who will be reunited Wednesday night for an exhibition against the 1979-80 Generals at IMA Sports Arena.

Goalie Bob Perani, the first General to be voted to the all-star team, goalie Bob Volpe, a first-teamer, and left winger Doug Manchak, another first-teamer are among 14 players who will play against this year's team.

The one-period "game" is part of the annual fund-raiser for the Greater Flint Hockey Association which includes an exhibition of ringette for girls and three GFHA teams playing against the Generals.

The ringette exhibition begins the program at 6:30. The Generals-Old Timers game is slated for 8:15.

Admission is $1.

Manchak said General Manager-Coach Marc Boileau of the Generals will play for the Old Timers. Although he didn't play for the Generals, Boileau played six seasons in the IHL with Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Fort Wayne.

Manchak said Dave Gorman and Larry Gibbons are coming from their homes in Ontario and Bob Goodenow from the Detroit area. Other Generals who live in the Flint area include Clyde Simon, Dave Bonter, Terry Smith, Denny McLean, Mike St. Cyr, Doug Towler and Brian McBratney.

Jim (Steamer) Young, one of the first Generals, will coach the Old-Timers. He and Perani were members of the original team in 1969-70.
